GLEBE PARENT NEWSLETTER

I hope you have all had a good week.

This week Mrs Standring (SENCO), Miss Walters (SEND Mentor) and I visited classes to assess the 'Ordinarily Available Provision' within each class. OAP is an expectation that all mainstream classrooms should make reasonable adjustments to make the classroom and learning environment accessible to all pupils. We were pleased to see that staff had implemented the core aspects which include low-arousal/sensory classrooms - too much clutter and noise levels impact on everyone's focus and attention. Easy access to visual support for all pupils so they can develop independence.

Glebe Football Team Make Strong Start

Glebe made a strong start to the new football season with a hard-fought 1–1 draw against Lady Bankes Primary School

Glebe created plenty of early pressure, with Nathan, Beau and Jake all having chances, but found themselves a goal behind. The team showed great resilience, with Matija making some important contributions in goal, supported by Max, Masato, Roman, Huxley and Hector to keep Lady Bankes from adding to their lead.

Glebe eventually got the equaliser they deserved when Jake's free kick looped beautifully into the top corner of the goal.

A great team performance and a positive start to the new season from Matija, Max, Masato, Roman, Huxley, Hector, Jake, Beau and Nathan!

Netball Cluster at Harlyn School

What a fantastic start to the netball season! We took part in a netball cluster at Harlyn School and had an amazing first fixture of the year, winning both of our matches 5-0 and 5-1. It was an outstanding performance from all of the girls, who showed great teamwork, determination and enthusiasm throughout.

Well done to Emily D, Emily C, Erin, Rosie, Amalya, Sienna and Surina for such a brilliant team effort!

This week the children completed their first publishing of the work on the setting description using figurative language and descriptive phrases.

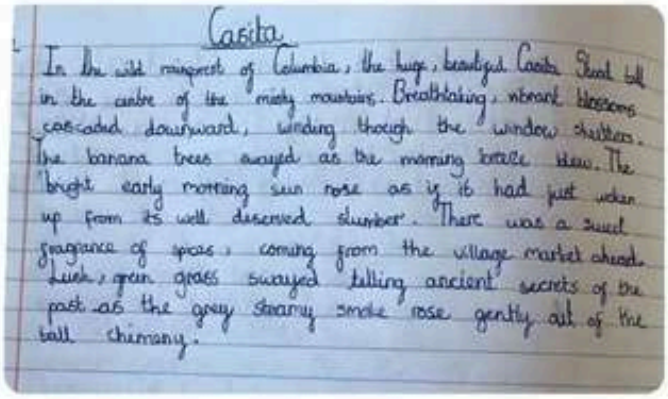

In the glorious, sunny valley, behind tons of towering mountains that were covered in decades of moss, beautiful Casita stood silently as the hot, golden sun rose above the valley. Casita glimmered in the warm sunshine whilst happy birds sung sweet, gentle lullabies. In the courtyard, beautiful flowers that smelled like lavender, surveyed in the gentle wind. As the golden, radiant warmth got to its highest, whispers of wind blew gently through the village.

Although Casita couldn't speak, its actions would make any guest jump supreisingly. It threw open its large, green doors to invite anyone to come in. Casita's wonderful, colourful tiles twisted and turned like beautiful ballet dancers. Large trees encased the courtyard whilst bowing as to greet guests with joy and happiness. Its window shutters clapped with excitement as if they were given a suprise party.

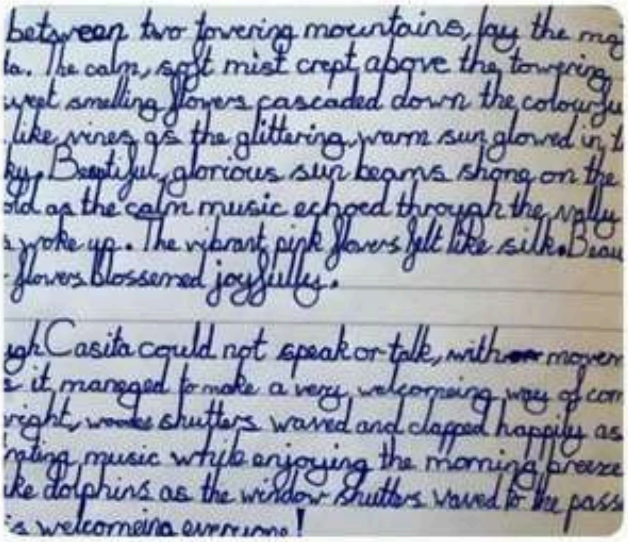

In the valley of Colombia, the colourful and majestic Casita stood as the golden sun beamed on the large house. Behind Casita was a colorful rainbow. The light grey mist made it impossible to see the quiet mountains. While the wind whispered quietly.

Casita

In the wild ringnest of Colombia, the huge, beautiful Casita stood tall in the centre of the misty mountains. Breathtaking, vibrant blossoms cascaded downward, winding through the window shutters. The banana trees swayed as the morning breeze blew. The bright early morning sun rose as if it had just woken up from its well deserved slumber. There was a sweet fragrance of spices coming from the village market ahead. Lush, green grass swayed telling ancient secrets of the past as the grey steamy smoke rose gently out of the tall chimney.

In the lush green countryside of Colombia, between two towering mountains, stood the Casita in all of its magical glory. Slowly, the boiling golden sun streched and came into the sky like a bright, amber phoenix with shining golden rays of hope. Cold, mysterious fog retreated to the shadowy depths it came from and whistling wind told secrets of centuries past. Like a proud parent, Casita stared down upon the village that its powers had created while flitting little birds chirped sweetly to a gentle lullaby tune.

Although Casita couldn't speak it showed its thoughts and opinion through movement. When visitors called round, Casita joyfully flung open its bright, turquoise doors and vibrant auburn shutters like a small child preparing to hug a relative. Quickly, its courtyard stirred and twirled like miniature terracotta gymnasts and ballerinas. You couldn't help smiling at the newest silly dance couture.

If you ventured into one of the fantasy like rooms, you might find some unimaginable things like a heart-shaped wardrobe which changed its view depending on how you feel and a magical wardrobe the perfect outfit for every occasion.
